

It's Super Bowl Sunday; enjoying 'XXIII' in 'III-D'

By Andy Siering
Staff writer

XLV, XXXV.
Those are the prices ($45 and $25 respectively) for two package deals available at area drinking and eating establishments for viewing the Roman Numeral Game on Sunday—Super Bowl XXIII.

The game pits the XLV players of the San Francisco 49ers (49ers) against the XLV players of the Cincinnati Bengals, whose hometown (since we're having fun with Roman numerals) is named for the ancient Roman general Cincinnati. (Isn't that special?)

Let's hope the game is special. Super Bowls historically have been super bores.

Anyway, pregame starts at 2 p.m., with the big game to follow approximately two hours later, depending on how many pregame commercials NBC has sold and how long it takes the refs to find a coin to flip.

The, uh, XII-minute halftime show, sponsored by Diet Coke, is in, uh, III-D. Special III-D glasses were available at various retail establishments.

Persons who aren't hosting or attending private Super Bowl parties can view the game at most taverns and restaurants around the Quad City area.

Charlie's Restaurant. 3120 Nameoki Road, has the aforementioned $45 package deal (per person), which includes bar drinks and a buffet featuring seafood and roast beef. Charlie's has a wide-screen TV.

The Den, 2401 State St., has the $25 deal (per person), which includes bar drinks and buffet beginning a half hour before game time and concluding a half hour after the game is over. The Den has four TVs. "You can see a TV wherever you sit," said proprietor "Buck" Pyatt.

Board inks DARE pact

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The city and the school board are halfway to an agreement on the Drug Abuse Resistance Education (DARE) program.

School board officials signed the agreement Tuesday night but it still requires the signatures of Mayor Von Dee Cruse and Police Chief Jim Lengyel to make it official.

"It's an agreement between the city and the district stating what they'll do and what we'll do in regard to funding," L. Monroe Worthen, DARE committee member and school treasurer, said.

The contract says that "the district shall reimburse the city for 37 weeks of annual salary and accompanying benefits paid to the DARE officer." The city is to be responsible for the remaining 15 weeks.

An additional paragraph says that from January through June 15, 1989, the school district "shall reimburse the city for 18.5 weeks of annual salary and benefits (including clothing allowance, insurance and pension) paid to the DARE officer; thereafter annual salary and accompanying benefits will be determined on a yearly basis commencing June 15, 1989, through June 15, 1990."

Two Granite City police officers will begin the two-week DARE training Feb. 6. Police Chief Jim Lengyel has declined to name the officers until they have completed the training. At a previous meeting, Lengyel said the DARE officer's annual salary is $35,379.

While two officers are being trained, only one will be used for the program, the other serving only as a backup. Superintendent Gib Walmesley said.

Walmesley will be setting up an informational breakfast meeting with the officers, DARE experts and the district's sixth-grade teachers to familiarize them with the program and allow them to ask questions about it.

As soon as the officer is trained, DARE will begin at four elementary schools.

There are 23 sixth-grade classes throughout the district and three other sixth-grade classes from St. Elizabeth and Holy Family Catholic schools. They may also be on the DARE schedule, Worthen said.

"There are grant provisions which require the extension of services to parochial schools," Worthen said.

If those schools participate, they will receive the program during the semester when four of the nine elementary schools do; the other five public elementary schools will be visited during the other semester of the school year.

Worthen said that if the parochial schools participate, it will round out the DARE officer's schedule.

PROTESTERS DEMONSTRATE outside the Hope Clinic for Women, 1602 21st St., under the watchful eye of an Illinois State trooper. The group staged the demonstration Saturday morning, the eve of the 16th anniversary of the U.S. Supreme Court's ruling legalizing abortion. Police charged 30 protesters with disorderly conduct or trespassing.

MESD to meet with agency over funds for pump station

By Andy Siering
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The Metro East Sanitary District will hold a meeting this week with representatives of the U.S. Corps of Engineers on the possibility of getting immediate help in fixing its North Pump Station in East St. Louis.

The work would not change the need for a $31 million program to resolve groundwater and river flooding threats to western Madison and St. Clair counties, officials said.

Located just north of the Martin Luther King Jr. Bridge, the North Pump Station protects the Quad City area from flooding. It currently is in "terrible condition," MESD President Walter "Shang" Greathouse said.

The station was built in 1935 — 27 years before the South Pump Station where a gate broke in October 1986, flooding a large portion of East St. Louis. During an MESD Board of Commissioners meeting Wednesday, Commissioner Dave Bergfield of Granite City suggested floating tax anticipation bonds to raise about $600,000 that might be matched 8-to-1 by the Corps of Engineers.

Greathouse said he hated the idea because it would "put the district back in a financial hole," but he promised to look into the possibility of a bond issue with matching funds from the corps.

After the board meeting, he talked to two representatives of the corps and talked further with board members.

What emerged from the discussions, Greathouse said, was the possibility that the corps would allow the MESD to contribute its share of the work on an "in-kind" basis — the labor of MESD employees. The rest of the work would be done by contractors with funds from the corps, Greathouse said.

He will meet with the corps this week to discuss the proposal, he said. He added that such an arrangement would lessen the possibility of MESD staff layoffs.

On Monday, the district had recalled 16 workers laid off in late December, thanks to a $66,000 check from the state, Greathouse said. All were employed in St. Clair County.

On Feb. 28, voters will be asked to commit $5,750,000 in non-bond taxes over the next five years for rehabilitation of the district's flood protection system. Approval would bring $23,250,000 from the federal government for the project, along with $800,000 from the state, Greathouse said. Another $1,200,000 in the $31 million program involves use of government land.

If voters do not approve the plan, state, federal and local officials say, the area will be declared an "unprotected floodplain" — with drastic consequences to the future of the region.

It is also possible that a court might order the MESD to float a bond issue to finance the entire project by itself, officials have said. But they add that, including interest and principal, this would cost taxpayers about $44 million compared to less than $6 million under the Feb. 28 plan.

30 demonstrators arrested at clinic

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Thirty demonstrators were arrested early Saturday morning in a large-scale protest at the Hope Clinic for Women, 1602 21st St. The demonstration marked the 16th anniversary of the U.S. Supreme Court ruling legalizing abortion. The landmark decision was handed down on Jan. 22, 1973.

About 150 protesters took part in the demonstration near the clinic. The arrested protesters were charged with disorderly conduct or trespassing, a police spokesman said.

Warmly dressed in parkas, boots and scarves against the below-freezing, 25-degree temperature, the protesters represented several anti-abortion groups from various communities in Illinois and St. Louis, said Tim Dreese, one of the organizers of the protest.

"We are trying to organize the people on this side of the river to take care of their own mill," said Dreese, who is with the Whole Life Ministries of St. Louis.

Men, women and children participated in the demonstration.

"We are here from all over Illinois and St. Louis," said another marcher who said he came from Mount Vernon, Ill. Stamping their feet against the cold and carrying hand-printed signs, the protesters walked briskly around the building, which houses the clinic and doctors' offices.

Illinois State troopers, Madison County deputies and Madison City police assisted Granite City police officers at the demonstration that started before 7 a.m.

Five officers from the midnight shift were held over to assist the day shift and four off-duty officers were called out. Police Capt. Kip Pomeroy said.

Center's move still opposed

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

MADISON — Madison Police Lt. Paul Bargiel still stands opposed to the proposed move of the Educational Therapy Center to Louis Baer School.

Police Chief Charlie Bridick and Bargiel voiced opposition to the move at the first ETC committee meeting, held last month. At that meeting, they agreed to consult East Alton police on the ETC day program run at Niagara School there.

A report prepared by Bargiel and presented at the second meeting last week says that "the general consensus of the three police agencies contacted is that the centers are problems for the police and the communities."

ETC, which deals with behaviorally disturbed students, is negotiating with District 12 to lease the vacant school. A public forum concerning that proposal has been set for 9 a.m. Feb. 4 at Harris School, Seventh Street and Alton Avenue.

ETC is being displaced from its Lake School location in Granite City at the end of this school year due to the closing of Webster School and the relocation of those students to Lake.

"The police department has concern about the program," said Superintendent Regional Superintendent of Schools Harry A. Briggs Jr. said, alluding to additional calls for police that the department might receive from the center. "They also have a misconception, and that is that everybody in the program is a criminal. That's just not the case."

Bargiel said one of his concerns is that the doors of the building will not be locked during class. The Illinois Department of Children and Family Services does not allow the doors to buildings housing day programs to be locked, although residential buildings may be locked, such as the group home in Edwardsville.

"I'm not going at this with a closed mind," Bargiel said. "It does warrant further discussion. As I see it, it would almost take a full-time officer on the premises, and I'm not sure they're prepared to do that."

To attempt to alleviate a possible burden to the police department, Briggs' office, which operates the ETC program, is considering partially funding the salary of a juvenile officer.

John Hamm III, who is both school board president and a 3rd ward alderman, said he would approach the City Council for the other half of the funds.

"I'm not sure what we can do in that direction, but we are certainly looking into it," Briggs said. He said he hoped to have that information by the forum date.

Missing: one big air conditioner

Mantancill Harrell of the 1100 block of Logan Avenue heard a noise on the front porch and discovered his 11,500-Btu air conditioner had been stolen, he reported Jan. 13.

Cassette player gone
Alline Sherrod of the Venice Homes arrived home Jan. 11 and found the front door open and an eight-track cassette player, turntable and speakers were missing.

Officer struck by brick
Carolyn Walsh, 45, of the 2400 block of State Street, Granite City, was booked for battery at 2:50 p.m. Jan. 10 when arrested in the 300 block of Weaver Street. Walsh was contacted as police after they investigated a disturbance report at a residence in the 1000 block of Douglas Street. When told she would be taken into custody for questioning, she allegedly threw a brick, striking Police Cpl. James Bennett on the right leg and causing a one-inch gash.

Burglar takes $1,600
George Rivers of the 1300 block of Robin Street reported Jan. 11 that a burglar took two video cassette recorders and $1,600 cash from his residence. Entry was gained by prying a basement door and forcing open an interior door.

Household items gone
Celestine Williams of the 1000 block of Third Street who was in the process of moving from a residence in the 600 block of Washington Avenue, reported Jan. 11 that household items were stolen from the latter address.
Missing were a refrigerator valued at $500, dishes worth $200, a washer and dryer valued at $80, a vacuum cleaner worth $60, a wall decoration valued at $200, an ironing board valued at $20, two sets of dishes worth $40, a set of blue luggage valued at $40, house plants and silverware.

Venice police

Fire and burglary reported
Bernice Brawley of the 1000 block of Market Street, Venice, was at a neighbor's house when told there was a fire in her apartment at 9:30 p.m. Jan. 10.
She reported unlocking the front door and seeing the east wall of the house on fire and a window broken.
Fire Chief Willie Dumas said that when firefighters arrived to extinguish the blaze a rear door at the two-family apartment building was open. Someone may have started a fire in a couch, situated beneath the window, with the heat causing the window to break, he said.

Brawley later reported items missing from the dwelling were a 7-inch color television, a collection of video games and 100 Cabbage Patch dolls. Loss in contents was estimated at $1,500.

Burglar takes microwave
The burglary at the residence of Steven Boyd in the 600 block of Lincoln Avenue, a door was forced to get inside the house, a Jan. 10 report said.

Among the items stolen were a microwave oven, a telephone answering machine, a video cassette recorder, a digital clock and a jewelry box containing assorted jewelry.

Kitchen curtain fire
Firefighters extinguished a fire in the kitchen area at the home of Anne Bowers in the 1000 block of Douglas Avenue, occurring at 5 a.m. Jan. 11.
Flames from a burning trash can apparently ignited the kitchen window curtains and floor. Loss of contents was estimated at $200, with $200 loss to the property.

City firefighters battle 5-hour blaze downtown

GRANITE CITY — A fire of a suspicious nature caused severe damage to an unoccupied brick building at 18th and Benton streets at 8:55 p.m. Jan. 17. No estimate of loss was available.
No firefighters were injured in fighting the five-hour blaze.
It apparently started on a lower floor and spread to the second story of the building. Fire Chief Charles Bernaix said.
Firefighters were required to cut holes in the roof to allow the thick smoke to escape, Bernaix said. Much smoke was coming from the attic, making the firefighting task difficult, he said.

The Madison County Arson Team was asked to investigate. Bernaix said. The origin of the fire is still undetermined.
When police arrived to assist firefighters, flames were shooting out of a rear window on the north side of the building, a report said.
The property is owned by Larry D. Cardin of the 4200 block of Rode Avenue.
The building most recently housed the Granite Hardware Store.

Haine defends his recent plea bargain agreements

EDWARDSVILLE — Although he agreed to plea-bargain agreements in two murder cases Jan. 11, Madison County State's Attorney William Haine said his handling of felony cases does not conflict with his campaign pledge to end plea-bargaining in serious felony cases.
Haine had criticized former State's Attorney Dick Allen for being too lenient in felony cases. Allen also had been criticized for plea agreements in several cases closed just before he left office in November.
Most felony cases closed since Haine took office Dec. 1 have ended in guilty pleas, but Haine said there is nothing wrong with that arrangement so long as the state gets what the crime ought to cost the wrongdoer.
Two men accused in 1989 murder cases entered guilty pleas in Circuit Court Jan. 11.
Tracy Hickman, 19, pleaded guilty to second-degree murder in the death of Jack E. Franklin. Hickman, of Alton, who had been charged with first-degree murder in the Sept. 24 shooting, was sentenced to 10 years in prison.

In the other case, Jeffrey Thomas, 26, pleaded guilty to first-degree murder for fatally shooting his brother, Gregory Thomas, on Oct. 21. He was sentenced to 20 years in prison, the minimum sentence for first-degree murder.
In a plea bargain, prosecutors may agree to recommend a specific penalty or agree to limits on the penalties they will seek in return for a defendant's guilty plea to the charge or a lesser offense.
In the Thomas case, Madison County Assistant State's Attorney Robert Trone, who recommended the 20-year sentence, described the defendant as emotionally troubled but not incompetent.
In the Hickman case, Trone said the lesser charge was appropriate in light of evidence obtained after Hickman was charged.
Trone said Hickman may have believed the shooting to be justified, but the force he used must be considered excessive because he was no longer in danger, Trone said.

Truck ends up in house after crash

Antonietta Short, 35, of the 800 block of Alton Avenue, Madison, apparently was uninjured, police said, when the pickup truck she was driving became embedded in the wall of the Michael Skinner residence in the 800 block of Greenwood Street, Madison, at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 15.
Short was driving from James Street, about 100 feet north of Greenwood Street. The truck struck the south wall of the home.
She was unable to say how the accident occurred and was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and driving while her license was suspended.

DUIs

Two charges are filed
Samuel A.G. Brawley, 36, of the 2200 block of Grand Avenue was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and improper lane usage when arrested at 21st Street and Madison Avenue Jan. 15.

Motorcyclist charged
Anthony Randall Guenther, 28, of the 2200 block of Edna Street, was charged following a Jan. 12 motorcycle accident at 14th and State streets.
Guenther was lying beside the motorcycle on the roadway when three men stopped to see if the cyclist needed help, a witness said. Guenther said he was a passenger on the bike and was unsure how the accident occurred.
Police retraced the crash and alleged Guenther was driving west on 14th Street into State Street at the time.
Guenther was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, driving while his license was suspended, disobeying a stop sign and being in violation of his license classification.

Crash on Illinois 203
An accident on Illinois 203 at Harrison Street, Madison, at 12:35 a.m. Jan. 15 involved vehicles operated by Anita L. Cloninger, 25, of the 3800 block of Lake Drive, Pontoon Beach, and Jessie J. Leonard, 17, of the 600 block of Mercedia Street, Venice.
Leonard was injured and was taken by Campbell Ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center.
Cloninger also sustained an injury. She was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and was released after posting $102 bail, pending a Feb. 9 appearance in the Edwardsville court.

Arrest on Pontoon Road
Allen Ray Todd, 36, of Sand Prairie Lane was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol at 1 a.m. Jan. 17 when arrested in the 2300 block of Pontoon Road.
An officer went to the scene after receiving a report of a car parked on the shoulder of the road, with the driver slumped over the wheel and the car door open. The engine of the auto was running and the headlights were on, the officer said.
After turning off the car ignition, the officer arrested the driver, Todd, who was taken to police headquarters. He was released after posting $102 bail.

Pontoon arrests driver
Joseph J. Kryciak of Edwardsville was arrested Jan. 14 by a Pontoon Beach officer who alleged Kryciak's pickup truck was weaving back and forth while traveling west on Interstate 270 near an entrance ramp to Illinois 111. Kryciak, 41, was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol. He posted $102 bail and was released pending a Feb. 9 appearance in the Edwardsville court.

One last memorial given here for Armenian victims

By Bryce N. Moore

GRANITE CITY — Those who lost their lives in the Armenian earthquake were remembered in services held at St. Gregory's Hall last Sunday.

Nearly 150 people, including Granite City Mayor Von Rex Cruise and Congressman Jerry Costello, attended the requiem service, which marked the end of the traditional 40 days of mourning as observed by the Armenian church.

While the service was organized by St. Gregory's Armenian Apostolic Church, it was open to the public. Ministers representing several other denominations were on hand.

"Forty days ago we were different," the Rev. Nerses Manougian, pastor of St. Gregory's, told the assembly. "We were ready to welcome another blessed Christmas season, but we heard the unbelievable, the terrible news of the killer earthquake in our fatherland."

The Dec. 7 quake spurred cries for aid that sent an aftershock around the world. The world answered, and in a big way.

Lisa Bedian, national public relations director for the Armenian Relief Society, says local individual and corporate donations exceeded $100,000.

"Nationally, over $15 million was raised in cash, goods and services," Bedian said.

Mayor Cruise felt proud of the local effort. "I want to commend the Armenian community as well as the community at large for its response," he said.

Rep. Costello said, "The district has come together in this tragedy and the service today is an indication of that."

Rev. Manougian expressed thanks to all who contributed, calling them good Samaritans. "The tremendous help and the outpouring of love gradually healed us, and today we are different."

During the hour-long service, members of the congregation held candles as a responsive reading called a Requiem-Hogebanquus was recited.

A prayer of peace was then offered for those who perished as well as those who survived. The 40-day span is an Armenian tradition called Karsook. Dating back hundreds of years, the tradition was brought to this country by Armenians who left their homeland during the Turkish invasion of 1915. 1.5 million Armenians were killed and most of the 300-plus families that live in the St. Louis bi-state area are either survivors or direct descendants of those who fled.

Bedian said Soviets' acceptance of outside aid was encouraging, and yet the Armenian community is remaining cautious.

The Rev. William Piorkowski, pastor of St. Mary's Assumption Ukrainian Catholic Church in Madison and St. Mary's Greek Catholic Church, said the response of the Soviet government was one to be thankful for. "You at least have some answers" on details and impact. He went on to say that many answers are still being awaited in regard to the Chernobyl nuclear disaster in the Soviet Union.

Manougian said raising of funds will not end with the period of mourning. Plans are being made to raise money for the rebuilding of the earthquake disaster area.

On Jan. 25 there will be a special multidominational service in Washington, D.C. Archbishops, congressmen and Armenian leaders are expected to attend.

Costello, Poshard spent most of their campaign treasuries

By Sabrina Eaton

P-R/J Washington bureau

WASHINGTON — Though U.S. Rep. Richard Durbin had more campaign cash stockpiled after elections than other Southern Illinois congressmen, his war chest was only slightly above average for an incumbent, according to a report issued this week by a citizens group.

The survey, released by Public Citizens Congress Watch, reported that even after the most recent elections, U.S. House members still had a total of over $67 million in campaign funds, or an average of $154,334. That amount marked a 39 percent rise over the previous election cycle.

Durbin, 20th District Democrat, had $181,923 in his campaign coffers as of Nov. 28, the study reported.

Glendal Poshard, a newly-elected Democrat who represents the 22nd District, had $47,399.

Jerry Costello, 21st District Democrat, had $6,556 on hand, with a $75,000 debt.

Costello spent large amounts of campaign funds, surviving four 1988 elections, two of which were relatively close.

The PCCW group maintains that, nationally, incumbents' fund-raising advantage led to only a minuscule turnover in the House of Representatives, where incumbents had a 98 percent re-election rate in 1988.

"There is more turnover in the Supreme Court than in the U.S. House of Representatives," said Peter Meryash, author of the study. "The overriding reason is the decisive fund-raising advantage enjoyed by the incumbents."

The group also called for closing of a loophole that allows the 190 congressmen who were in office before 1980 to keep leftover campaign funds when they retire. Senators do not have that option, nor do the more recent congressmen.

Durbin, Costello and Poshard are not covered by the grandfather clause. Melvin Price, the 21st District Democrat who died last April, was covered by the rule, but had only $606 in funds. He was 83 and had won his 34th consecutive year in Congress.

Durbin won 69 percent of the votes in November. Poshard took 65 percent, and Costello garnered 53 percent.

"Like most of Congress, members of the Illinois delegation also increased the amount of money they had, compared to January 1987."

Poll judges down to three in county

By John D. Milazzo

Staff affiliate

EDWARDSVILLE — A resolution calling for the use of only three election judges instead of the customary five in the Feb. 28 consolidated primary election was approved by the Madison County Board on Wednesday.

The move will save the county $13,940 in polling place judge fees, said County Clerk Evelyn Bowles.

Bowles said she recommended that the resolution be offered by the board's judiciary committee because voter turnout for the February election "is expected to be very light."

The election pertains to only 82 precincts, Bowles said. It will affect only voters in the Livingston School District, where a bond issue is on the ballot; Wood River and Highland, where there are municipal primaries; and in the quad city area.

where a Metro East Sanitary District referendum will be held on groundwater and flood control work.

In other board action Wednesday, plaques honoring former countywide officials and two former county board members were awarded.

Plaque recipients included former County Auditor Pete Fields, former Recorder of Deeds Ronald "Rink" Lucas and former State's Attorney Dick Allen.

Fields did not seek re-election to county office and instead ran unsuccessfully for Congress.

Both Allen and Lucas were defeated in last year's primary election.

Also honored with plaques were former board member Louis Akers of Alton, defeated in the primary, and former Edwardsville board member Donald McLean, who did not seek re-election for health reasons.

Sibling class on Jan. 28

St. Elizabeth Medical Center spokesman is offering an opportunity for siblings to feel they are a key part of the arrival of a new brother or sister, with a sibling class.

Children must be two years old or older, and the expectant mother must be at least six months pregnant. A parent must accompany the child and be prepared to participate. Cost is $5 per family. The class will meet Saturday, Jan. 28, from 10 a.m. to noon in the O.B. solarium, located on 2-Doctors. Registration is required, at 798-5040.

Civic groups hold meetings

The Madison Seniors met Jan. 12 at the Recreation Center, where Joe Timko installed officers for 1989.

Installed were: President Genevieve McClure, Vice President Sue Blattner, Secretary Josephine Gochett, Treasurer Mary Horvat, Chaplain Eva Barry, Historian Dorothy Vasiloff, one-year Trustee George Vasiloff, two-year Trustee Mickey Krusec, and three-year Trustee Steve Barry.

Appointments made were: kitchen, Fredrick Green, and blood pressure, Josephine Czerwinski, a registered nurse.

A plaque was presented to McClure by Timko for her service as president.

A committee was appointed to plan the spring dance — Mildred Shifter, Gochett and Lenna Williams.

The Madison Minerva Club met Jan. 12 at the home of Mary Moore.

President Nancy Clotfelter opened the meeting. Reports were given by Moore and Karen Purkale.

Present were Irene Orr, Mary Rekas, Louise Kern and Lucille Podner.

The Quilting Club met Jan. 11 at the home of Catherine Orris. Breakfast was served by hostess Vera Sikora. Attending were Catherine Moaski, Mary Veno-sky and Katie Suchi.

The Polish Hall Parents Group held a meeting at the Polish Hall on Jan. 11.

Plans were made for a Valentine Dance to be held on Feb. 11 at the Polish Hall from 8:30 p.m. until 12:30 a.m. Terry Dutko and the Alley Kats will provide the music. Tickets are $3 and are available from the dancers or at the hall.

The group will attend an 8:30 a.m. Mass at St. Mary's Church on March 12 to be followed by its annual Communion breakfast at the Polish Hall.

The dancers are making plans to attend the March 18 performance at Kiel Opera House of the Mazowsze Band Troupe from Poland.

Attending the meeting were Director Reggie Forsys and parents Helen Romanic, Kathy Dohnal, Gerry Mendez, Judy Kult, Alexis Lux, Diane Budnicki, Brenda and Dennis Janik, and Frank and Leah Gavlick.

St. Mary's Holy Name Boosters met on Jan. 11 at Engelbert Hall. Officers elected were: First Vice President Frank Vrabec, Second Vice President Vasil Tanase, Treasurer Edmund War-chol, Assistant Treasurer Tony Ratkiewicz, Recording Secretary Bill Gushieff, Assistant Recording Secretary Mike Gulash, and Sergeant-at-Arms Steve Graklan-off.

Members purchased paint for the restroom and kitchen of the hall.

The Rev. Jim Keefner announced that more than $600 had been collected from St. Mary's parishioners for Armenian earthquake relief.

The Metro-East Polka Club will sponsor a Polka Dance at Engelbert Hall on April 15.

Linda Dohnal celebrated her eighth birthday Jan. 12. A party was held at Hardee's in Madison on Jan. 14.

Refreshments were served to Erin Langensien, Jessica Bath-on, Bobbie Dorris, Shaun Benyr, Mark Dorossett, Steven Conat-ser, Cookie Fields, Gabriela Bragies, Dawne Turner, Fernanda Pardo, Toni Mendez, Cindy Bisto, Geoffrey Lux, Brittany Kult, Niki Budnicki and Sarah Pozanovitch.

A family party was held in the evening at the home of her parents, Ed and Kathy Dohnal.

Dinner and cake were served to Steve and Mary Lou Dohnal and daughter, Stephanie; Vince Dohnal and daughter, Courtney; Lisa Dohnal; Brian Dohnal; grandparents Mary Domanski and Frank and Catherine Orris; Frank and Barbara Orris; Frank and Patti Orris and children Benjamin and Stacey; Jerry Bush; Rich and Gerry Mendez and daughter, Toni; and Kristi Slayton.

Linda is a second-grade student at St. Mary's-St. Mark's.

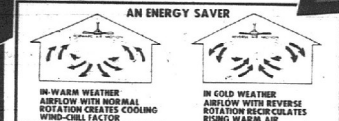

The 17th Annual Russian Christmas and birthday party were held Jan. 7 at the Polish Hall.

Hostess and guest of honor was Leona Voloski, a resident of Venice, who has been the owner and operator of the Park Grill Restaurant in Venice for 33 years.

Voloski is the mother of two sons, Tom and Jerry Voloski. She has eight grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Churches, clubs list activities

Children's club formed at church

A club for children ranging in age from 8 to 11 has been formed at the First Church of God Church, 2904 Pershing Blvd. The Mountaineer Club held its first meeting Jan. 18.

The club hopes to provide children with consistent programs of competition, challenge and awards, during which they will be learning Bible verses and stories, as well as skill in how to use the Bible.

Church formed in Granite City

A new church, Calvary General Baptist Mission, has been formed.

Members are meeting at 2615 Marshall Ave. in the former Bible Believers Baptist Church building. The public is invited to attend. Sunday School services are at 10 a.m. and worship services are at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Anyone with questions should call 337-6931 or 451-7326.

Delegates to attend assembly

Bishop Daniel L. Ryan, bishop of the Diocese of Springfield, has invited six local men and women to serve as delegates to the 1989 Roman Catholic Diocesan Pastoral Assembly.

The delegates will participate in the three-day assembly in Springfield to be held March 2 through 4.

Local delegates include: Clarence DeGonia, Delores Haye and Mark Yehing, all of Granite City; and Delores Brinker, Helen Jiles and Mark Jiles, all of Madison.

They will join 400 delegates, including lay members of diocesan consultative groups, priests, and the diocesan administrative leadership, to establish goals for church ministry into the 21st century.

Hookbill Club to discuss birds

The Midwest Hookbill Club Inc. will hold its monthly meeting at 1 p.m. on Sunday at the Vital Services Building, North Sharnock, East Alton.

There will be a presentation by David Kersting on the care and prevention of diseases in parrots.

Those who wish more information may call Philip Fitch, 656-9576.

Alpha Gamma talks hypnosis

Jane Stevens of both Avon, Ill., and St. Louis entertained the Laureate Alpha Gamma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi in her St. Louis home on Jan. 11.

Members discussed plans to attend the Illinois State Convention in St. Louis in October. Certified hypnotherapist Marsha Serles of the Community Hypnotherapy and Stress Management Center of Edwardsville presented a program, "Hypnosis and Stress."

She talked of a relatively new treatment for stress and some forms of mental illness called "Transcendental Electric Treatment." She then proceeded to comment on hypnosis as treatment for stress, to loss weight, to stop smoking or overcome a fear.

Those present were: Delores

Dorich, Bea Brackett, Evelyn Tolliver, Juanita Calve, Lora Lombardi, Dolores Byrnes, Ruth Soyano, Pat Tsigalaroff, Imogene Forster, Arlene Haldeman, and guest Andria Georgoff of Troy.

The next meeting will be Jan. 25 in the home of Ruth Soyano.

Cubs Scouts visit Colonial Haven

Cub Scout Pack 96, sponsored by the Maryville School PTA, visited Colonial Haven Nursing Home and entertained the residents with a medley of Christmas carols.

Betty Blaylock served as pianist, while Suzanne Jaycox led the boys and adult leaders in song. Thirty-eight boys participated.

Leaders present were Bob Sander, assistant Cubmaster, and Debbie Winkle, Delores Lynch, Trish Stagner, Maria Avila, Dennis Brewer, Vicki Burke and Bill McCaslin.

At the December Park meeting, awards were presented to the following:

Den 2 Cubs Shane Ryan, Ryan Reid and Joey Higgins earned Bobcat Badges.

Webelos Jeremy Ellis, Richie French, Brian Miskap, David Miskelley and Steven Sander earned Handyman activity pins.

Ted Hall earned Handyman and Craftsman activity pins. Curtis Howard earned his Handyman and Scientist pins.

David Wright earned Handyman, Citizen and Scientist pins. Shawn McCaslin earned his Bobcat Badge and Handyman Activity Pin.

Webelos Dan Colwell, Billy Pope, Chris Westbrook, Kevin Clark, Eric Jaycox, David Rudolph, Billy Norton, Robert Moffett and Matt Neal were presented with Craftsman and Showman activity pins.

Jeremy Stagner received a Traveler Pin, and Jarrod Duffield received Geologist and Scholar pins.

Special guests at the pack meeting were Tiger Cubs Dustin Wesley, Justin Cann, Dustin Craig, Randall Davis, Ryan Davis, Matthew Thomas and the boys' parents.

Santa Claus presented each boy with a Pinewood Derby car kit.

Parish visitor workshop here

Two, two-hour workshops for people who work with or visit those who are sick will be offered in Madison and St. Jacob.

In Madison, the workshop will be offered at St. Mary Convent, 1011 Alton Ave., at 9 a.m. Feb. 1. Those interested may register by calling Sister Bernadette at 451-9693.

In St. Jacob, the workshop will be offered at St. James Parish, beginning at 1:30 p.m. Thursday. Those who wish to register should call Sister Eileen, 654-5701, evenings.

The speaker for both workshops will be Sister Jane Boos, SSND, of the Office for Ministry with Persons with Disabilities of the Diocese of Springfield in Illinois.

There is no fee; walk-in registrations will be accepted.

Orsey attains Eagle rank

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew G. Orsey of the 1500 block of Clark Avenue have returned home after attending Eagle Scout Award ceremonies honoring their grandson, R. Scott Orsey.

Scott Orsey is the oldest son of Granite City native Robert R. Orsey. The ceremony was held at the Sandy Springs United Methodist Church in Atlanta, where Orsey, a member of Boy Scout Troop 463, had earned this highest Boy Scouting honor.

In addition to fulfilling years of Scouting requirements and earning a minimum of 21 merit badges, an Eagle Scout candidate must develop and execute a major community service project. Orsey's project was to create a massive storage system for a communitywide, ecumenically sponsored action center in the North Atlanta area.

Following the ceremony, 150 Scouts, family friends and community officials attended a reception in Orsey's honor.

The Andrew Orseys remained in Atlanta during the holidays after the December ceremony.

The Citizens for Flood Protection Committee

WE NEED YOU!!

The Metro-East. Is your home here? Is this where you worship and where your children attend school? Do you earn your living here? If you answered yes to any of these questions...

The Citizens for Flood Protection Committee NEEDS YOU!!

Sounds like a war slogan, doesn't it? Well, we're at war. Against the Mississippi River. Have been for 80 years.

But in recent years, we have been losing.

We have not kept up our defenses. Our levees and floodgates and canals and drainage ditches are in bad shape.

The river won a major battle in October of 1986, when one of our communities suffered a flood destroying $18 million in property and traumatizing hundreds of citizens.

The U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, our ally, has said that the same destruction can occur in any Metro-East community ... and that we also face the threat of "unprotected floodplain status," which would strangle our economy whether there is a flood or not.

Unprotected status means no mortgage loans for the sale of houses ... no commercial or industrial development ... It means we have no economic future in our region. Only losses for us all.

The Corps of Engineers is ready to go on a $30 million public works project to avert both threats. Our share is $6 million ... only $6 per resident of the region for five years.

This project would protect us from the river, create jobs for hundreds of our workers, avert the threat of flooding and remove the one barrier standing between us and a prosperous future.

And this is why we need your help.

On February 28, voters of the Metro-East will decide our future at the polls. We are asking you to ...

Surplus food will be given

Officials in Nameoki and Venice Townships and the Salvation Army have announced that surplus government commodities will be distributed this month.

Nameoki Township will again distribute commodities for residents of Chouteau Township in addition to Nameoki residents. The commodities will be distributed on Jan. 26 at the various sites, officials said.

Commodities will include corn meal, butter and flour. All products will be given out on a first-come, first-served basis by ticket number received at the door. The Salvation Army, 300 E. 23rd St., will conduct its distribution of surplus food to Granite City Township residents Jan. 26 starting at 8 a.m.

Venice Township will give out commodities at 8:30 a.m. at Engelbert Hall, 1001 Street and Washington Avenue, Madison. Township officials said commodities will be given out at the hall and recipients must present a signed affidavit before receiving the commodities.

Nameoki Township will give out commodities for residents of both Nameoki and Chouteau townships starting at 7:30 a.m. at the Nameoki Township building, 4250 Illinois 162.

To be eligible to receive commodities, persons must be head of a household or the spouse, have their Social Security number, and sign an affidavit that their total household income is within the guidelines.

Recipients are to bring some proof of residency other than a driver license or voter registration card. An unpaid utility bill, a property tax statement, a current rent receipt with the address or a public aid card or medical card is adequate, officials said.

Monthly income guidelines are as follows: one-person family, $601; two in the family, $805; three persons, $1,009; four persons, $1,214; five persons, $1,418; six persons, $1,622; seven persons, $1,826; eight persons, $2,030; and $204 for each additional member of the household.

There is no discrimination against groups of any kind in the food distribution program.

was a good one, it still did not change. Bargiel said that would do anything to prevent crime in the area as long as the doors

"It is my understanding by law, if that those who don't want to stay there, I can't leave and then they will be screaming around," Bargiel said.

In his report, Bargiel said that from January through December 1988, Granite City Police answered 19 calls. (This would encompass parts of the 1987-88 and 1988-89 school years.)

He said those were only the calls that involved students. From Madison schools during that time, Bargiel said, four calls had been answered. The report says this could result in an 1800 percent increase in calls.

"These percentages kind of don't tell the whole story," Bargiel said. "If they just hear the percentages people don't know if that's one or 100 calls."

Bargiel said he was also concerned about what the move might cost the city.

"I was told that 80 percent of those kids are on probation and that if they violated that probation they were to be taken to the detention center," Bargiel said. "Bargiel said that in each such investigation and transfer, it would equal six to 10 hours of work for an officer."

"That requires a police investigation. Probation officers can't do that," Bargiel said. "The police have to do all the work."

The procedure would require paperwork, transportation. Madison County Juvenile Detention Center in Edwardsville and the State's appearance in court the next day, Bargiel said. As many as four hours of overtime pay could be required, he added.

Crisis Services of Madison County Inc. said $18,000 would be earned from rent and $2,000

Pupils participate in IEPA poster contest

Thousands of state fifth-grade students, including students from Webster and Nidderhous elementary schools in Granite City, are participating in the second annual Environmental Protection Agency poster and educational exchange program, "The Land We Depend On."

The IEPA has provided 350 teachers with an educational packet containing posters, drawings, handouts and suggested topics for classroom discussions and activities.

The packet includes guidelines for a statewide poster contest. A committee named by the IEPA staff will select 50 posters to be placed on display March 4-10 at the Illinois National Bank in Springfield.

Out-of-state insurance companies to pay tax

Attorney Gen. Neil F. Hartigan has announced that Illinois will start the year with an additional $56 million as a result of a settlement with out-of-state insurance companies that will have to pay the state's 2 percent insurance premium tax to do business in Illinois.

"The $56 million will be released to the state from a tax protest fund established by Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. and 26 other insurance firms. The premium tax is expected to produce $140 million annually for the state."

although a few are offering special drink prices. For instance, Eddie's Lounge, 2900 Nameoki Road, is selling draft beer for $2 a pitcher (normally $3.75).

Smokey Joe's, 3908 Lake Drive, Pontoon Beach, will put out some free snacks "to keep everybody's heat on straight," said proprietor Fred Painter.

Others are treating the big game as just another day at the office. Bruno D's, 1820 Cleveland Blvd., will serve chili and feature a $100 draft beer.

Jacobsmeyer's, 2401 Edwards St., is "just expecting pretty regular business," said proprietor Mike Pedigo.

The 12th Street Saloon, 1100 Greenwood Ave. in Madison, will have food available. Under new ownership, 12th Street is having its grand opening Saturday, said one of its proprietors, Rich McIntosh.

"We're gonna carry over into Sunday so they don't have a good time," McIntosh said.

Who's going to win the game? (Many say it will be the Redskins VII points.) "We've been arguing about who'll win," McIntosh said. "My brother (Tom) likes San Francisco. I like Cincinnati. We've got some customers on my side, but more on his."

from lunches.

Briggs said District 12 pays $100 a month for each of its eight students enrolled at ETC.

"That's really cheap when you look at what it costs to send them out of state or to private institutions," he said.

Madison found that out last year when one student sent to a Wisconsin facility cost the district $17,000, the discussion showed.

"That was for half a year and that covered only educational expenses, not the residential cost," Madison School Superintendent Dan Kostelnick said.

This prospect is the alternative to the ETC program, Kostelnick said.

"We are mandated by the state to provide these kids with an education," he said. "Without this program, we couldn't afford to do that."

Village MFT funds lower

By Valerie Evenden

Staff writer

PONTON BEACH — Mayor Glen Wilson said recent actions made by the Village of Ponton Beach officials know his village is growing.

"They must think we're losing streets instead of picking them up," said Mayor Glen Wilson, speaking of a reduction in motor fuel tax funds authorized by the Illinois Department of Transportation.

Village officials were notified at their Jan. 10 meeting that MFT dollars will be cut by $74,000 from last year's appropriation of $85,700.

The amount allotted for street maintenance costs and engineering this year totals $60,760 ($57,700 for maintenance and $2,960 for engineering).

The Village Board adopted a resolution on Dec. 13 appropriating $77,242 in MFT funds for maintenance of village streets from Jan. 1 until Dec. 31, 1989.

Wilson said the primary cut was made in the amount of bituminous concrete materials allowed — reduced from 750 tons to 100 tons.

Dale L. Klorer, IDOT District 8 engineer, said that overlaying existing oil and chip streets could not be approved by the department.

Mayor Wilson explained why: "We can only use that material for patching purposes."

The village probably will apply for a supplemental appropriation to meet the needs of street maintenance, Village Clerk Mary Warren said.

Corbett

Floyd H. Corbett, 85, of Madison died at 10:11 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 19, 1989, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. Hospitalized since Jan. 12, he had been ill for two years.

Born Feb. 10, 1903, in Illinois, Mr. Corbett had been a resident of Madison for 64 years. He retired from the former Johns Manville Co. plant here in 1968 as a forklift driver.

Preceding him in death was his wife, Sylvia M. Corbett, in December 1986.

Survivors include two sons, Donald Corbett of Edwardsville and David Corbett of Houston, Texas; two daughters, Wilma Stroke of West Palm Beach, Fla., and Doris Buckingham of Mount Olive; 10 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Services will be held at 1 p.m. Monday at Irwin Chapel for Funerals, 2801 Madison Ave., with the Rev. Doyle Ankrum officiating. Burial will be at Sunset Hill Cemetery in Edwardsville. Visitation will start today (Sunday) at Irwin from 5 to 8 p.m.

Starzyk

Joseph W. Starzyk, 71, of Granite City, formerly of East St. Louis, died Thursday, Jan. 19, 1989, at his residence and was pronounced dead at 9:45 a.m. by Deputy Coroner Ed W. Morris. Death was attributed to natural causes.

Born Feb. 15, 1917, in East St. Louis, Mr. Starzyk resided in Granite City for 10 years. He retired from the Swift & Company Packing House in East St. Louis after serving 40 years as a butcher. He was a member of the American Meatcutters and Butcher Workers Union of North America in East St. Louis.

Survivors include one son, Joseph Starzyk of Maryville, one daughter, John Starzyk of Lenox, and his wife, Nellie, nee of Belleville and Emily Mance of Cahokia, and two grandchildren.

Services were held Saturday at the Kasey Funeral Home, 9900 St. Clair Ave., Fairview Heights, with the Rev. Gene Linnemann officiating. Burial was at St. Adelbert's Cemetery. A viewing hour. Memorials are requested for the American Diabetes Association.

Robinson

Judy (Long) Robinson, 41, of Lorena, Texas, formerly of Granite City, died Wednesday, Jan. 18, 1989, at Providence Hospital in Waco, Texas, of an apparent heart attack.

Born Dec. 12, 1947, in Granite City, Mrs. Robinson resided in Granite City for 29 years.

Survivors include her husband, Robert F. Robinson Jr., two daughters, Wendy and Robin Robinson, and one son, Michael Robinson, all of Lorena, and her mother, Wilma Long of Granite City.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. Monday at Davis Funeral Home, 2141 Street and Cleveland, Bonview, Granite City, with the Rev. Dale Edwards officiating. Burial will be at Sunset Hill Cemetery in Edwardsville. Visitation will start today (Sunday) at Davis from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. Memorials are requested for the American Heart Association.

Free seminar on resources for seriously mentally ill

As part of its community education seminars, the Ketteler Center, 184 Madison Ave., and the services of St. Elizabeth Medical Center is sponsoring a panel discussion.

Entitled "Resources for the Seriously Mentally Ill," the discussion will take place Tuesday, Jan. 24, from 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. in the auditorium of the medical center, 2100 Madison Ave.

"There are a lot of misconceptions about the resources available for the seriously mentally ill," said Richard Bowtell, executive director of the Ketteler Center at SEMC and a panel member.

"By getting together representatives from all the local agencies that offer these services, we can show how the entire system works. This is not only for professionals who deal with mental illness. It would also be beneficial for teachers, church leaders, law enforcement personnel, etc. It would also be valuable information for people who have family members or friends who are mentally ill."

The panel will include: Dr. Orville Mader, executive director, Mental Health Services of Southern Madison County.

Don Gergen — Alliance for the Mentally Ill in Madison County.

"Thomas H. Johnson — Assistant faculty director, Division of Mental Health and Development Center.

"Karl Kruckenberg — Psychiatric Treatment Division administrator, Alton Mental Health and Development Center.

"Amy Hilgemann — Executive director, Crisis Services of Madison County Inc.

"L. Baetz — Madison County Sheriff's Department.

"Kristine Gammuth — Executive director, Madison County Mental Health Center/Community Counseling Center.

"Richard Bowtell — Director, Ketteler Center, SEMC.

"We hope to let people know: who needs these services; how to go about getting them; and who to call first, depending on the needs of the mentally ill person."

The seminars are free and open to the public. However, space is limited. Those interested may call for more information on the seminar or to reserve a space. Free parking will be available at the 21st Street garage next to the medical center.

Defense contractor suspended

By Sabrina Eaton

P-RJ Washington bureau

WASHINGTON — The Navy on Jan. 12 indefinitely suspended a New York subsidiary of Emerson Electric Co. from doing business with the federal government while legal proceedings are pending against the subsidiary.

Hazeltine Corp. of Greentown, Long Island, pleaded guilty to conspiracy charges the previous week and agreed to pay nearly $2 million in fines and court costs.

The charges are part of the widening Pentagon procurement scandal dubbed "Operation Ill Wind" by federal investigators. Hazeltine is the defense contractor firm to be suspended in the case.

The Pentagon suspended Hazeltine and former corporate officers Joseph Colarusso and Charles Fucini, who pleaded guilty to charges of conspiracy to commit wire fraud and defraud the government.

Federal investigators allege Colarusso and Fucini obtained inside information on defense contracts from two consultants who had bribed a Navy contracting officer.

A spokesman for St. Louis-based Emerson said the unauthorized actions by the two former officers were related to a single U.S. Navy procurement for Identification Friend or Foe (IFF) test equipment. That contract has not yet been awarded by the Navy.

The company maintains the actions by Colarusso and Fucini will have no effect on the December 1986 acquisition of Hazeltine and continued without Emerson. Hazeltine is already taking steps to guard against future incidents, the company said.

"Hazeltine is actively discussing with the Navy the steps needed to lift the suspension in the shortest possible time," a corporate statement said.

According to the statement, Hazeltine had 1988 revenues of $18 million, which is about 2.4 percent of Emerson's total 1988 revenues of $6.7 billion.

Alton Mental Center engineers selected

The Capital Development Board has selected architects and engineers to plan 78 construction and renovation projects statewide, worth more than $20.7 million, at its January board meeting.

The projects include $720,000 awarded to Robert D. Field and Associates of Collinsville for bathroom upgrading for code compliance at the Alton Mental Center in Madison County; $92,000 to Vollmer Associates of Collinsville for sidewalk and step replacement at the Alton Mental Center; $2.7 million for Watwood and Heuser of Springfield to construct an all-purpose building at the DuQuoin State Fairgrounds; and $270,000 to Vania Engineering of Springfield for solar collection and generator rehabilitation at the Illinois State Fairgrounds in Springfield.

Special education will focus on handicap screening this month

Region I Special Education for Venice, Madison and Granite City has joined a statewide campaign to identify and evaluate handicapped children by proclaiming January as "Child Find Month."

With the theme "Child Find: Building Better Tomorrows," the campaign will focus on the early identification of children with handicaps.

"We are trying to locate anyone with a handicap, from newborn to age 21," Steve Balen, director of special education, said. "Experts say one child in 10 has some handicapping condition. These youngsters may have difficulty walking, talking, hearing or they may have behavioral problems."

"These are youngsters who should be referred to the Region I Special Education program. By contacting Anita Ertimoff at 876-9658, testing can be arranged to determine if the child has a handicap."

"If a handicap exists, Region I

Special Education can recommend action or design a special education program for the child.

"Free growth and development charts, immunization records and babysitting packets are also available from Child Find at that number," Balen said.

Child Find is a service of the Illinois State Board of Education and public schools throughout the state.

GCC welding classes meeting now

Two welding students from the Granite City Campus of Belleville Area College recently qualified for American Welding Society certification.

In a destructive-bend test conducted by St. Louis Testing Laboratories, both Lanny Woll and Jed Perkins passed the "6G" pipe test, according to instructor Jim Schmidt.

Schmidt said only two students were prepared due to the late start of Granite City District 9 classes this school year. Both the welding and machine shop classes use facilities at Granite City High School, he said.

Welding classes at GCC teach trades utilized by both the steel and fabrication industries. Schmidt said that while the GCC welding program covers a diversity of material, courses can also be designed to meet the needs of an individual company.

"If a certain company wants to train their people in one specific area of welding such as oxy-acetylene burning, T.I.G., M.I.G., or one phase of arc welding, while getting college credit and without following the course outline, no problem,"

Schmidt said. "We've been doing that for years with much success."

Industrial classes began Jan. 16. Currently offered are:

Industrial Welding I and II, Tuesday nights from 6 to 10:20; Industrial Welding III and IV, Thursday nights from 6 to 10:20; and Industrial Pipe Welding, Friday nights from 6 to 10:20.

For more information about the courses, GCC can be called at 931-9800 or the Granite City Industrial Training Center at 451-3818.

Future secretaries name officers

The Future Secretaries of Madison High School recently held its organizational meeting and elected officers for the 1988-89 school year.

Elected were: Deionne Fletcher, president; Tanya Wellmaker, vice president; Tiffany Jenkins, recording secretary; Melissa Davenport, corresponding secretary; Sharon Braxley, treasurer; and Detra Blakley and Star-rette Smith, board members at large.

Teachers who sponsor the organization include Beverly Imming, Yolanda Washington, Raelyn Parks and Glenda Harris.

The program for the meeting was a skit titled "Wellness and Working" written by Jacquelyn C. Trast of Canada.

County retired teachers meet

The Madison County Retired Teachers Association, Unit 3, will meet on Feb. 3 at Walton's Smorgasbord, Cottonwood Mall, Edwardsville. Lunch will be at 11:30 a.m., followed by a program.

Dawn Spicuzza, Miss Illinois 1988, will perform several vocal solos. Mike Nelson, meteorologist, KMOV-TV, St. Louis, will be the guest speaker.

Teachers who taught in the schools of Alhambra, Collinsville, Granite City, Grantfork, Highland, Madison, Marine, New Douglas, St. Jacob, Troy and Venice, or those who now live in these communities, are invited to attend the Feb. 3 meeting.

Reservations must be made by Jan. 31 by calling 931-1248, 344-2254 or 624-6247.

Two receive degrees in Rolla

More than 600 students received degrees during winter commencement exercises at the University of Missouri-Rolla. UMR awarded bachelor of science, bachelor of arts, master of science and doctor of philosophy degrees.

Two local residents received degrees.

Phillip A. Harizal received a bachelor of science degree in engineering management. He is the son of John and Dolores Harizal of Granite City.

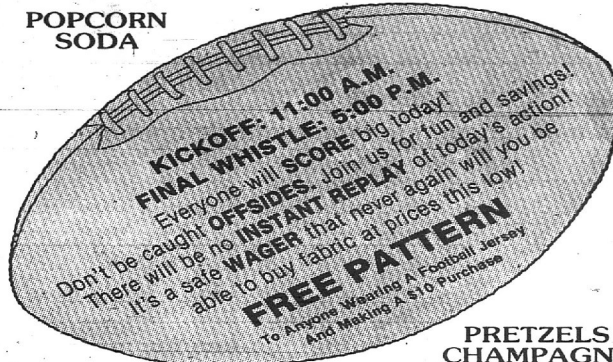

Stephen M. Petrunich received a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering. He is the son of George and Mary Petrunich of Granite City.

Riverfront park expansion called priority

By Roger McGrath
Staff affiliate

ST. LOUIS — Winning approval from the presidential administration of George Bush to extend the grounds of the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial into Illinois is the top priority of the Regional Commerce and Growth Association this year, said RCGA president Ned Taddeucci.

The centerpiece of the memorial on the Missouri side of the Mississippi River is the world-famous Gateway Arch, which rises

630 feet above the St. Louis levee, symbolizing this metropolitan region's role as the "gateway to the West."

Illinoisans, Missourians and others have been urging that the memorial project be completed by developing a riverfront park on the Illinois shore, opposite the Arch.

The outgoing Interior Department secretary, Donald Hodel, has been among those studying detailed proposals for the proposed East St. Louis area park.

Extending the Jefferson

National Expansion Memorial from the Gateway Arch grounds to the section of the East St. Louis riverfront immediately across from the Arch has gained considerable momentum and currently awaits the approval of the secretary of the Interior, Taddeucci said.

George Bush has announced he will appoint Manuel Lujan to the top Interior Department office.

The expansion to the East St. Louis shore has been endorsed by the U.S. Park Service.

The plan also has "the unanimous support of the congressional delegations" representing the St. Louis area, Taddeucci said.

He said the other key issues the regional chamber of commerce will address during 1989 are:

"Passage of two bills "to give (Missouri) law enforcement agencies more tools to deal with drug offenders."

The bills, called "drug interdiction measures," are being considered by the Missouri General Assembly. They would authorize wider use of wiretaps and would permit local authorities to confiscate the assets of drug dealers.

"Passage of a proposed state bond issue that would be spent on economic development. The measure would be a reprise of the $600 million bond issue for economic development approved by Missouri voters earlier in the decade.

"We think it's time to embark on that kind of thing again," he said. But he added that the legislation should support only proposals for grants that create new jobs.

"More money appropriated for Missouri colleges. The state now ranks 44th in the country in per capita spending on higher education, Taddeucci said.

Taddeucci unveiled the 1989 priorities at a Jan. 17 breakfast meeting of the RCGA's South Area Small Business Council.

Cooperation between the RCGA and its counterparts in Kansas City and Springfield has been successful in Jefferson City in recent years, he said.

WhaleySuper Bowl winner decided Friday night

Maybe the NFL really knows what's best for us — or at least they know what we really want. This afternoon, there will be 3,297,735 Super Bowl parties in living rooms and bars all across the country. The excuse is Super Bowl XXIII, the league's annual Roman Rumble to be held this year in Joe Robbie Stadium, which is about 15 miles north of the Miami neighborhood known as Overton. For some reason, visions of "Black Sunday" or "Two-Minute Warning" flash through the mind. But everything will be OK. Word is?

Anyway, these 3,297,735 parties are held not to watch the game as to watch all that accompanies it — both on the screen and in the respective living rooms and bars.

So the powers that be in the NFL — and that's pretty much Pete Rozelle and Don Shula — got together many years ago when they discovered what a good thing they had in this Super Bowl, which has been explained 3,297,735 times got its name from a little toy called a "super ball" which Lamar Hunt's daughter was quite fond of when the league was trying to come up with a more catchy name than the NFL-AFL World Championship Game.

They got together and decided this. Since so much energy is put into dealing with all of the things only tangentially related to the game, it may be self-defeating to have to worry too much about the game.

"So, Don," said Rozelle to Shula, "we can't ever have this game actually be a competitive affair. We don't want anybody who would otherwise be keeping track of the score by quarters of 'Bud Bowl I' to have to worry about down-and-distance of the actual game."

"Makes sense to me," said Shula. "Let's make sure that one of the teams forgets all the good things it did to make it this far. But let's do it differently each year just so no one catches on — not that anyone will care."

"Like one year we'll have a team run for a grand total of 17 yards (Minnesota, Super Bowl IX). Another time we'll have a team turn the ball over eight times (Denver, XII). Then we'll have a team fail to complete a pass in the entire second half (Miami, XVII). Then we'll have an MVP quarterback throw the dumbest interception of Jack Squire's lifetime (Washington's Joe Theismann, XVIII). And finally we'll have a team just cease to play defense and let the winners score five touchdowns in 12 minutes (Denver, XXII)."

All you ever hear about is teams who want to get to the Super Bowl. They never talk about actually winning it. See, the winner is decided by pure chance. At the mega-party hosted by Rozelle on the Friday night before the big event, Shula and the commissioner yank the participating team's placekickers off to a side room where a one-on-one poker game is played to determine Sunday's outcome.

Minnesota Viking placekickers were notoriously lousy poker players since the Vikings are in Super Bowls. Bronco kickers aren't much better (0-3). But Roy Gerela of the Steelers must have been Mr. Chips since his team was 4-0.

There was only one instance of confusion over the outcome of the Friday night poker game. Ironically, it involved Shula's own placekicker, Garo Yepremian. He beat Washington's Curt Knight with a full house to assure the Dolphins of a win and a perfect season — in Super Bowl VII.

But Garo had apparently cheated and his conscience just wouldn't let him sleep. So he tried to botch the Super Bowl with his ill-fated "pass" which let the Redskins back in the game. Alas, he was not allowed on the field again and the Dolphins hung on for their win.

So there you have it. Kickers Jim Breach of the Bengals and Mike Cofer of the 49ers have already decided the outcome of today's game. One hint: Cofer was known in college as "The Shark." 49ers 34, Bengals 21.

Redbirds lap Warriors

By Gary King

Staff writer

ALTON — With all due apologies to Rodney Dangerfield, the Warriors went to a track meet in Alton on Friday and a basketball game broke out.

Alton ran up and down the court. Alton quickly ran down the Warriors, who quickly ran out of gas. And by the time the Redbird Invitational was complete, the score had been run up to Speed 74, Granite City 45.

To be sure, the view from the Warrior bench was less than appealing — that is, unless you like seeing blurry figures flying up and down the court quicker than you can say another Alton basket.

The Warriors, now 7-11 overall and 0-5 in the Southwestern Con-

GRANITE CITY	SCORING	55	10	12	17-46

GRANITE CITY: Schaefer 12, Burton 8, Van Buskirk 4, Wilkinson 2, Hise 4, Cook 3 (1 Spolster), Smith 2, Ware 2, FO-10 (1 Spolster) FT-6, PF-10
ALTON: Caldwell 24, Vann 20, Clenden 11, Holsman 8, Reynolds 4, Perry 3, Hulsman 2, Kline 2, Holsman 2, FO-20 (4 Spolsters), FT-10, PF-14

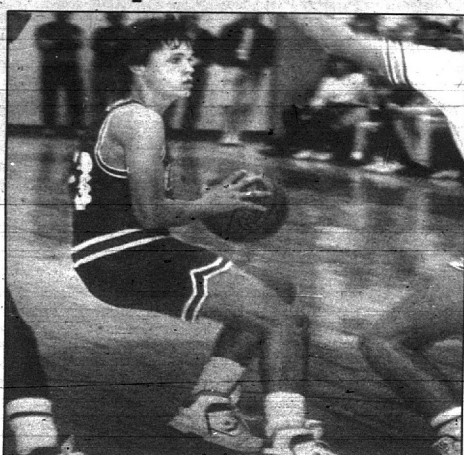

ference, had it so bad that they would've charged Alton with Unlawful Use of Quickness if only they could've spotted the Redbirds' license plate number.

The bottom line is that we were just beat by a heckuva ballclub tonight," said Warrior coach Don Deterding, who tried in vain to stymie the Runnin' Redbirds with a broad variety of hurdles and hightops. "They are quick and they are unselfish. But what I think makes them so good is their ability to find an open man. I mean, they can pass. They bring the ball down the floor and you can have them covered and they still whip a perfect pass to the open man."

"I can certainly see why they're only lost two ballgames this year."

Actually, at one point the track tilt turned basketball game was close. After two buckets by Joe Vann, Granite City's Mike Wilkinson swerved near the hoop and connected on a nifty layup to cut Alton's lead to 4-2.

But then someone fired the starting gun and the Redbirds ripped out of the starting blocks and just stop for a breather the rest of the first quarter.

Vann (22 points) ended the opening quarter by ending the Warriors' faint hopes as Alton's Vann soared over two Granite City defenders en route to a very Jordanian slam dunk to give Alton, now 11-2 overall and 4-1 in the SWC, a 14-5 lead.

Some tough inside play by Kory Burton (eight points) and Jeff Schaefer (12 points, 11 rebounds) helped Granite City to stay within eyeshot of the Redbirds in the second quarter, but Vann and partner-in-speed Kevin Caldwell connected on a pair of buckets in the final minute of the half to give Alton a 27-15 halftime edge.

"I was hoping we could go into halftime down by only three or four, but we made some real costly mistakes early in the game — we missed some easy baskets and made some passes we shouldn't have," Deterding said, as he broke into another Redbird hushanna. "And they (Alton) made some beautiful fast-break baskets. They shoot with such a soft touch. I really couldn't fault the effort of our kids. There's just no substitute at all for quickness."

Matters took a turn from critical to chronic for Granite City in the second half as Alton all but lapped the staggering Warrior squad and increased its lead to 56-28 by the end of the third quarter.

The Warriors got their best — and perhaps only — break late in the fourth quarter when the buzzer sounded ending the meet. The bad news was obvious. The good news was a little hard to come by.

Fourth-quarter blitz falls shy for Trojans

By Mike Blackshere

BELLEVILLE — The Trojans have had very few positive things to look back on halfway through a tough season. They had one great quarter to remember Thursday, but it was preceded by three thoroughly mediocre quarters.

It was a case of too little, too late as the Trojans fell 77-73 to the O'Fallon Panthers in the consolation semifinals of the Mazzio/Bellefonte East Invitational Tournament.

The Trojans (1-11) were eliminated from the tournament while the Panthers (11-5) played Belleville Alton, a 61-51 winner over Belleville East, for the consolation championship on Saturday.

Madison, which has now lost 10 in a row, trailed by six points at the half and by ten after three quarters, letting the Panthers dictate the tempo of the game.

Madison was down 62-43 with just 4:42 left and apparently out of the game when they staged an amazing comeback that fell just short.

"They were shooting from NBA three-point range," O'Fallon coach Norm Tonjes said. "It was uncanny the way they were hitting from that distance."

The Trojans were frustrated and playing poorly before they were brought to life by a couple of incidents that happened off the court.

Madison was applying full-court defensive pressure to try to get back in the game, when senior Tim Smith went for a steal and wound up in the first row. Smith bumped into a fan who apparently wasn't impressed with his hustle, and he gave Smith a shove.

Things could have gotten ugly at that point, but not everyone saw the incident as the players were all spread out in a transition situation.

Smith was sure that the fan wasn't just helping him find his way back to the court.

"The guy said 'get off of me' and shoved me hard, right in the back," Smith said.

Ryan verbally commits to Wisconsin-Parkside

Chris Ryan, one of the captains of the 1988 Warrior team and the leader of the defense, has verbally accepted a scholarship offer to join the University of Wisconsin-Parkside soccer team for the 1989 season.

The 6-0, 150-pound sweeper/midfielder played on the Warrior state semi-finalist team in 1988 and the state championship team in 1987. He had one goal as a junior, and one goal and four assists last year.

Ryan will become the 16th Granite City player to play for Ranger coach Rick Kilps. Kilps has a 71-28-12 record entering his sixth year at UWP. He previously coached at Aurora (Ill.) University.

Ryan will join former Warrior teammates Jim Chomko and Derrick Wilkinson on the Rangers. A three-year starter at Parkside, Chomko, a 1986 GCHS graduate, plays center midfield and is the school's all-time assist leader. Wilkinson, a senior on the 1987 state champions, suffered a pre-season knee injury and redshirted his freshman year at UWP.

The Rangers, 10th in the final national rankings, finished the season with a 13-4-5 record.

DEVOS PARRAM pulls up to make a pass for the Red Devils. Venice defeated Sparta 83-61 on Friday in the semifinals of the Sparta Tournament. The Devils (13-3) were to face East St. Louis Assumption (13-3) in the tournament championship game at 8 p.m. Saturday. Complete details will be in Wednesday's Journal.

tried to get the attention of the officials, but weren't heard until they commented aloud on the quality of the officiating.

They already weren't happy about the disparity of free-throw attempts in the game. O'Fallon shot 33 to Madison's eight attempts.

One official didn't care for the unsolicited critique of his performance, so head coach Al Collins and assistant coach Marcus Spraggins both picked up a technical foul.

Panther senior forward Aaron Oliver hit three of four free throws. The Panthers got the ball back, center Ejuan Kiddie was fouled and he hit one of two free throws to give his team a 62-43 advantage with 4:42 left in the game.

Then the Trojans put on a three-point shooting show.

Tim Smith hit two, Jessie Leonard hit two, and both Andre Mays and Federico Walker hit

"But even with the players we have back we are going to be the underdog in all the rest of our games because of our tough schedule."

Smith and Leonard were back in the lineup after sitting out one game under doctor's orders because they were involved in a weekend car accident. Leonard was driving when the two were rammed by another driver who

Matmen rally to beat Parkway West

Continuing their trend of dominating the lower and upper weight classes and struggling in the middle, the Warrior wrestlers scored a 39-29 home dual meet victory over Parkway West on Friday.

The Warriors led 21-0 through the first four weight classes as freshman Ryan King (103 pounds) and senior Bryan Pritchett beat pins. But after Brent Davis' technical fall win over Aaron Silva at 125, Granite City (17-8) lost the next six bouts to fall behind 29-21.

The Warriors finished with a flourish, however, as Brad Massey (171), Larry Hahne (189) and Rocky Moss (275) picked up pins as Granite City scored the last 18 points.

Pritchett had the quick pin of the night when he beat Mike Reiter in 57 seconds. But the match was still in doubt as the Warriors hung on to a 33-29 lead going into the heavyweight bout. Moss dropped Steve Campbell in 1:10 to wrap up the Warriors' 15th win in their last 18 meets.

Granite City had a meet in Jerseyville on Saturday. Details will be in Wednesday's Journal.

GRANITE CITY 39, PARKWAY WEST 29
103 - RYAN KING pinned Bryan Reiter in 5:22; 112 - TODD HUTCHINSON beat Richard Rhy 11-0; 119 - BRYAN PRITCHETT pinned Mike Reiter in 0:57; 125 - BRENT DAVIS won by technical fall over DOUG EDWARDS in 3:10; 140 - Chris Powers won by technical fall over DOUG MORTON in 4:10; 145 - Joe Donohue won by technical fall over JAMES SCHNEIDER in 0:02; 152 - Craig Munsey pinned JOHN REBERT in 2:18; 160 - Kevin Ray beat DAN GRAYSON 9-0; 171 - BRAD MASSEY pinned HAHNE in 0:02; 189 - LARRY HAHNE pinned Jack Brown in 0:02; 275 - ROCKY MOSS pinned Steve Campbell in 1:10.

"I thought (Jeff) Schaefer and Johnny (VanBuskirk) played really well tonight," Deterding said. "Jeff made a few mistakes early that kept really cost us, but after that he was sensational. Johnny had a heckuva tough job tonight, bringing the ball up the court against that (Alton full-court) press. But I thought he did a good job."

The Warriors will have a week to rest up before they face Belleville, Alton and Belleville East next weekend at home. Deterding realizes that the rest will be much needed. Starter Matt Cook nursing a bad ankle, played sparingly on Friday and managed a single three-pointer. "Hopefully, we'll have Matt back at full strength and we'll get to rest up a little bit," Deterding said. "It won't be an easy weekend, that's for sure."

Dafoe, Hackman team light up powerful 'Mississippi Burning'

Director Alan Parker's "Mississippi Burning" (****), a scathing indictment of the Ku Klux Klan and bigotry, in general, may not play to packed houses in Tupelo, Miss.

Parker has created a powerful, potentially acted fictional film based on the ugly, hushed-up 1964 murders of three civil rights workers in a Mississippi county that unleashed a wave of terror and gruesome violence.

The subsequent invasion of Jessup, Miss., by a horde of FBI investigators seeking the killers of the young men — one black, two white and Jewish — resulted in a reign of terror. There were church bombings, hangings, and some intimidated blacks were castrated by hooded, club-swinging Klansmen bearing blazing crosses.

While it did not take long to exhume the workers' corpses from an earthen dam, finding the precise location and identifying the moral lepers who killed them was a daunting job. The vast sleuthing enterprise was headed by dour Harvard-educated Alan Ward (Willem Dafoe) and his colleague Rupert Anderson (Gene Hackman), a former Mississippi sheriff with a dry humor and a decidedly common touch.

Ward knows as much about Southern ways as he does about playing mumblety-peg and only later does the FBI man realize he has a valuable ally in Anderson.

Reviews

By Frank Hunter

as the script is eloquent, with a striking authenticity in both settings and photography.

The supporting players are sensational, with a wondrous performance by Frances McDormand as Mrs. Pell, the forlorn wife of a deputy (Brad Dourif) who is up to his turkey-gobbler wattle in red-neckery, sleaze and corruption.

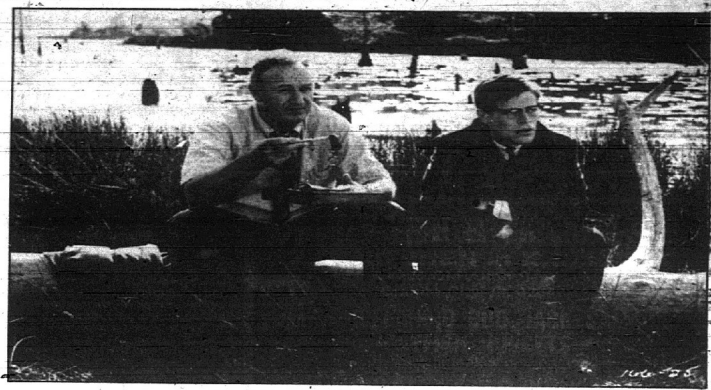

The close-but-no-cigar love interest between Mrs. Pell and Anderson as the FBI agent slowly extracts needed information from her is beautifully developed by director Parker. The entire film is enhanced by a score comprised of original music, old-time spirituals and lowdown jazz.

On the debit side, "Mississippi Burning" wrongly suggests that J. Edgar Hoover was a staunch supporter of civil rights and that white people in Mississippi were the ones leading the struggle.

And along with the back-road car chases, KKK beatings and lynchings, the yahoo, fabricated ending seems fashioned more for its entertainment value than driving home the point that a lot of people worked terribly hard and even risked their lives in bringing the killers to justice.

Whatever its shortcomings, and there aren't many, "Mississippi Burning" is sure to be an Oscar nominee, and a deserving one at that.

Rated R (violence, language). Running time: 125 minutes. Rating based on four-star system.

WILLEM DAFOE and Gene Hackman star as FBI agents investigating murders in a small Mississippi town in "Mississippi Burning."

Gene Hackman definitely not counting on looks for success

By Frank Hunter

Once upon a reel, when Gene Hackman was a kid back in Danville, Ill., the Screen Actors Guild was crowded with unbelievably handsome men and gorgeous women.

In those days Hackman would attend Errol Flynn's pictures and leave his seat convinced he could perform like the swash-buckler in every way athletically, intellectually, sexually.

But walking through the theater lobby and peeping at his reflection in the mirror jolted him back to reality. Hackman was not about to give Adonis a run for his money.

Even today, after forging a solid stage career on Broadway and starring in scores of hit films including "The French Connection," "Target," "The Domino Principle," "Bonnie and Clyde" and two "Superman" films, the balding, round-faced actor still seems as real as a dented fender and feels weird when he sees himself on the screen.

When the elevator paused between floors in a Washington, D.C., hotel following the premiere of his latest picture "Mississippi Burning," a reporter wondered what Hackman might have done with his life had he not become an actor.

"(Nothing) much," he replied modestly. "Probably wound up sellin' shoes, workin' in a Danville drugstore or drivin' a truck."

Hackman shares top billing in "Mississippi Burning" with Willem Dafoe. Both actors play FBI men with very different ideas about dealing with residents and the local cops in a small Mississippi town where the brutal murder of three civil rights workers occurred back in 1964. England's Alan Parker directed the film which is fictional treatment of an actual event.

"When I see this 57-year-old guy up there it still hurts, just like it did back in Danville when I study myself in the lobby mirror wondering whether I'd ever look like Errol Flynn," he said.

Hackman served in the Marines and loathed it; he was one of the few in his battalion who got out of the Korean War alive. He missed the action by a fraction, breaking both legs in a motorcycle accident.

Discharged at age 20 as a disabled veteran, he finished his education at the University of Illinois, went to the School of Radio Technique in New York City, worked around the nation's television stations as an assistant floor manager and director, and finally found himself in California in his 30s studying drama at the Pasadena Playhouse where Dustin Hoffman was a fellow classmate.

"I've had an odd career in terms of ambition," he said.

"My ambitions were always very tiny. When I first started acting I loved doing it so much that I always figured if I could just get a job off-Broadway, that would be good enough. My work just kind of evolved — a show off-Broadway, then something on Broadway, a little television and finally Hollywood."

He got involved with "Mississippi Burning" because he figured it was a very good script, not because of deep feelings for the civil rights movement.

"With Willem Dafoe and Alan Parker involved, it just seemed to be a wonderful package, especially since the events actually happened during the 1960s when the winds of political and social change were blowing hot around the country."

Hackman said he always would be willing to play a good role, regardless of whether it was in keeping with his own political convictions.

An actor's job is to fill the needs of a script rather than broadcast his social and political views," he said. "I mean if the script was a good one and called for me to play a Nazi, I'd do it, although I'm certainly not an advocate of Nazism."

Hackman's role as an FBI man and former Southern sheriff in "Mississippi Burning" convinced him that country towns, whether in the north or the south, are pretty much the same.

"Having grown up in Danville, Ill., where I return occasionally for some celebrity event, I think I know how small-town people think and act and I put some of those experiences into the role of Agent Anderson," he said. "I've always been an actor who stood around observing people and their body language. My biggest difficulty is finding a way to do it without being recognized myself."

"Sometimes, I wear a hat and dark glasses, but I've made so many pictures that people recognize me from every angle, even the back."

To the charge that "Mississippi Burning" condemns the South as violently racist, Hackman said, "In Mississippi, we experience warm hospitality. Not all Mississippians, or all Southerners for that matter, are like those depicted in 'Mississippi Burning.' But the fact is the events did occur in a town down there and those are the people the film deals with."

Hackman is getting ready to debut as a film director with "The Silence of the Lambs." He also will play one of the film's smaller roles, a treat for him because he can relax and not feel he's carrying the picture alone.

'Torch Song' may offend some

Attendance at "Talk Radio" has been very disappointing. But a better fate should await the second offering from the Great White Way, Harvey Fierstein's "Torch Song Trilogy" (****).

"Torch Song Trilogy," which originated off-Broadway in 1978 and was brought to Broadway in 1982, won two Tony awards: Best Play, and Best Actor for Harvey Fierstein. A touring company of the show was presented by The Muni at the American Theater in 1984.

Fierstein reprises his stage role in the film. The story covers nine years in the life of Arnold Beckhoff, a homosexual who lives in New York City. The greatest challenge for Arnold, who makes his living as a female impersonator in a nightclub, is finding some order and love in his existence.

The world just doesn't seem to want to accept him. But luck seems to be smiling on Arnold when he visits a gay bar and meets Ed, played by Brian Kerwin. Ed is a single school teacher who is bisexual and ends up having a prolonged relationship with Arnold. Everything is great until Arnold's birthday when Ed not only forgets the big day, but makes a date with someone else on the very night. And to make matters worse, Arnold learns that the other man is actually a film for the intolerant. It is forthright, sometimes blunt on various elements of homosexual life. That aspect may offend some people. As actor, Fierstein's single greatest talent is his raspy, dramatic voice that flares almost violently in confrontational scenes.

What is not enjoyable about this film is Arnold's constant carping about his lack of acceptance and his inability to find a loving partner. As actor, Fierstein's single greatest talent is his raspy, dramatic voice that flares almost violently in confrontational scenes.

Arnold's mother, a lady who loves her son but cannot accept the truth about his homosexuality.
